

Sarah Weissberg

Director of Philanthropic Research

Sarah Weissberg is a Director of Philanthropic Research for the Private Donor Group at Fidelity Charitable®, an independent 501(c)(3) public charity that has helped donors support 382,000 nonprofit organizations with nearly $73 billion in grants.¹ The mission of Fidelity Charitable® is to grow the American tradition of philanthropy by providing programs that make charitable giving accessible, simple, and effective.

Sarah joined Fidelity Charitable in 2018. She leads the Philanthropic Research team, which conducts research and creates custom resources for donors in Fidelity Charitable's Private Donor Group. This research guides donors in making transformational grants that support high-impact nonprofits addressing critical needs.

Sarah has more than 20 years of experience working in the nonprofit sector and philanthropy. Prior to coming to Fidelity Charitable, she worked at Duke University's Office of Development on the marketing team and as program director of Interdisciplinary Initiatives.

Before Duke, she was director of member relations at the North Carolina Center for Nonprofits, a statewide association for nonprofits. She began her career at a small public radio station in Asheville, North Carolina, managing programs serving the station's volunteers, donors, and listeners.

Education & Credentials

- Bachelor of Arts in English from Guilford College in Greensboro, N.C.
- Master of Arts in English from North Carolina State University
- Certificate in Nonprofit Management from Duke University

Contact Sarah

- Email: sarah.weissberg@fmr.com

¹ From Fidelity Charitable inception in 1991 through December 31, 2022.